Hi Gabriel,

We're actively hiring a Semantic AI Engineer (USD 8K+). I'm reaching out to a small group of profiles, and yours stood out.

It involves designing the ontology that works as the semantic brain behind a system that writes its own code deterministically. We're looking for someone who's genuinely spent years modeling in RDF, OWL, and SHACL, since that ontology depth is the real bar here.

A bit about us: we're the largest 100% bootstrapped company, and we work with companies like Pinterest, Adobe, and eBay, connecting top engineers with world-class projects. It's fully remote, you get real autonomy, and honestly, a lot of people tell us joining BairesDev was a career-defining move.

Would love to chat if this resonates with you. Can you share your email, phone number, and availability over the next few days?

Best,

Nacho De Marco
